The foundation of efficiency lies in a robust, healthy constitution. When ill, weak and suffering from dragging down pains, inflammatory and ulcerated conditions or displacement with consequent backache, headaches, nervousness and "the blues," no woman can be efficient or hardly a fit companion to live with. If every woman in this condition would only give that most successful of all root and herb remedies, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial, she would soon be restored to health and reach the goal of her ambition for personal efficiency.—Adv.

WAR NEWS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—(4 P. M.)—Twenty-five thousand Turkish prisoners and 260 guns had been counted up to yesterday evening by General Allenby's forces, pushing forward through Palestine.

The war office announcement says that the seventh and eighth Turkish armies have virtually ceased to exist. Seizure by the British of the crossing of the Jordan at Jisr-ed-dummar on Sunday morning shut the last avenue of escape to the Turkish west of the Jordan.

Reports from the Palestine front this afternoon indicate that none of the Turkish force of at least 40,000 men trapped by the British through the seizure of the last of the passages of the Jordan can possibly get away. Virtually the entire Turkish force is or will be accounted for in killed, wounded and prisoners. Hundreds of stragglers are being found wandering about in the mountainous country aimlessly without a leader or a purpose.

THE QUESTIONNAIRES

The difficulties the local boards are having with improperly filled questionnaires are due to several causes,

but to none more than to the apparently involved and complicated character of the document. To the average person the form demands rather more information than would seem necessary to serve the purposes intended. The questions asked touch matters about which most men have a certain knowledge but not to that degree of accuracy answers would imply. Even to men who have had more or less experience with forms of a similar character, and who have been somewhat methodical in their habits of preserving information of their individual affairs, filling out the questionnaire is a problem requiring considerable careful study. To persons unfamiliar with blank forms, except those of the simplest character, and who have maintained no systematic records of their own, the questionnaire becomes an unwelcome puzzle.

Inasmuch as only comparatively few registrants have ever had occasion to apply themselves to solving problems like those involved in filling out the questionnaire correctly, it is not surprising that the local boards find so large a proportion of them in need of revision. While the document is very formidable in size and in the number and variety of questions, filling it out is largely a matter of taking pains, presuming the registrant understands the import of the information desired and has the facts sufficiently clear in his mind to state them definitely. But the average registrant is not disposed to take pains with something that becomes more confusing and complex the more he thinks about it. Some registrants, assuming from a hasty reading of the form that they know how it should be filled out, then proceed only to later find that they have made more or less a bungle of it. Others, unwilling to ask advice as to how to proceed, achieve no better success. Still others, indifferent about the matter but anxious to get it out of hand as well as out of mind, go about the task hastily and with results that make trouble for the local boards as well as themselves.

For those who do not know from previous experience how the questionnaire should be filled out, and those who have any doubt whatever of their troubles and labors of the local boards

by filing forms that are improperly filled out.

Initiative on Every Side Held by

Allies. "Enemy in Flight in Two Theaters of War," "Big Cavalry Captures

2,000 Huns," "Bulgars Retreat," "Huns

Sense Big Disaster," "Serbs Capture

9,000 men," "Two Turk Armies Cease

to Fight," "Hungary Retreats," "Allies

Smash a 50-Mile Front," "Turks in Allied Trap," and a few others of like import are the cheering bulletins with which the Kaiser began another perfect day.

The Kaiser is suffering from a very violent attack of Allied influenza.

Taking the first steps to impose a tax on cotton simply goes to show that almost anything can happen in Congress these days if the right group of happeners start it.

German "kultur" becomes doubly significant in its meaning to find the Kaiser allied with the Turks when the momentous event of restoring Nizareth, the home of the Savior's childhood, to the possession of the Christians took place.

Registrants seem to have become so accustomed to the 50-50 floor rule that they are mixing the correctly and the incorrectly filled questionnaires in about the same proportions.

It is a little early for Thanksgiving

but General Allanby has shown both forehandness and skill in buying a big bunch of turkeys in preparation for the proper celebration of the day.

The Liberty Loan Primer

The Bravest Are the Tenderest.

Lots of us stay-at-homes think we have done handsomely when we have strained a point to buy one more

Liberty Bond than we had originally planned. More of us are content to stand by the original intention. Few of us have gone out of our way to find new avenues of mercy.

And there the boys in the trenches

have put it all over us.

Just before the launching of the last big drive against the Germans

the Yanks of the Rainbow division were asked if they desired to contribute to a fund for the support of the French orphans.

Did they? They did!

Sixteen companies, together with their staff and field officers and the medical detachment immediately contributed $4,500, sufficient to care for thirty-eight orphans for one year, and took a "future option" upon sixteen more. Funds for these last were to be furnished after their next pay day.

Nor is the movement confined to the Rainbow Division. Every regiment in the American Expeditionary

Force is to have the same opportunity. So far no one of them has failed to embrace the idea with a whoop.

France shortly will have an army of scattered foster fathers second to none

in the world.

As they bought Liberty Bonds so too the boys in khaki are going the limit in putting their money where it will do the most good in stricken

France. Lives and money both are being laid on the altar of liberty.

They are heartening nobly to the cry of humanity.

As over the bravest are the tenderest.

To us at home the suffering abroad

has not been brought so poignantly home.

For us there is the Fourth Liberty

Loan.

And we must honor it.

QUICK RESPONSE MUST BE

MADE TO GET BOYS' NAMES

ON THE CITY'S HONOR ROLL

Concerning the collection of names which are to form the Honor Roll of Connelville boys in the service, Rev. E. B. Burgess, chairman of the committee has made the following statement:

"The committee having charge of the Connelville Honor Roll are pleased with the many prompt responses that have been received; but many of the soldier and sailor boys whom one desires to honor have not yet been reported. This matter is urgent since we are obliged to furnish a complete list of names to the manufacturers on September 25.

It is true that names can be added to the roll after the day of dedication;

but this is a proceeding that is hardly fair to the boys themselves. Their friends should hold them in higher esteem. The roll is limited to those whose home address is within the city limits.

Fill out the attached coupon and return at once to Rev. Ellis B. Burgess, 501 Vine street.

PIMPLES

"My face broke out in small pimples which seemed to dry up, but more would come. My hair also seemed dry, and finally I noticed my head was getting full of something like fish scales, and there was a terrible itching. The pimples were red, and scales formed on them. My face was in a terrible condition and I did not like to go out. I just ruined my scalp by scratching."

"The trouble lasted about four weeks and I used one box of a certain soap, and two boxes of ointment, but received no benefit. Then I noticed a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and wrote for a free sample. The itching stopped so I bought more, and in about three weeks I was healed." (Signed) Lloyd Cobbs, 4129 Warren St., W., Philadelphia, Pa.

Use these super-creamy emollients for every-day toilet purposes and prevent these distressing troubles.

Sample Each Free by Mail. Address postcard: "Cuticura, Dept. R, Boston." Sold everywhere. Smp. 2c. Ointment 25c and 50c.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's carelessness that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit. Watch the kidneys.

The kidneys are the most overworked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes, look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease.

One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, high colored scanty urine, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism.

Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble go after the cause at once. Go to your druggist immediately. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL Haaren Oil Capsules, imported direct from the laboratory in Holland, where they have been in use for over two hundred years. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. None other is genuine. In sealed boxes, three sizes.—Adv.

Parker Had Been Like Dead Man Until He Took Tanlac.

"Yes sir, I have been taking this Tanlac for about two weeks and I have gained twenty pounds," said J. B. Parker, machinists, of 163 East 12th Avenue, Erie.

"It was about a year ago," continued he, "that I suffered a stroke of paralysis. At the time, I weighed 205 pounds. I was obliged to quit work, and I haven't struck a lick at my trade in nearly twelve months. I fell off in weight to 147 pounds, a loss of 58 pounds.

I have been nearly dead. In fact, I was so bad off that I thought my days were really numbered.

"About three weeks ago, I first heard about Tanlac. I made some private investigations about the medicine. I inquired of several neighbors who were taking Tanlac. They told me it was the best thing they had ever used, and that I would make no mistake in testing it. I thereupon bought me some of the medicine. I began improving in a few days after commencing to use it. My strength came back to me gradually, and I am now today stronger and feel younger than I have felt in years.

"Yes, it is true. I have gained twenty pounds in two weeks. It seems strange to believe, but it is certainly so. I am now feeling so well that I am going back to work next Monday.

"I consider Tanlac the most wonderful medicine ever sold here."

Tanlac is now sold in Conneltsville exclusively by the Conneltsville Drug Co., Beighley's Pharmacy, and F. H. Harmaning, where the premier preparation can be had.—Adv.

BRIDE OF BATTLE

A Romance of the
AMERICAN ARMY
Fighting on the Battlefields of FRANCE

BY VICTOR ROUSSEAU

"It's part of a sum that was paid to an American soldier for betraying his country."

"Oh, Lord, no, Major!" answered Johnson.

"Then do what you think best with these."

The negro looked at the gold coins in his hand, stepped outside the tent and swung his arm. The pieces fell in the jungle grass far beyond the encampment. Major Howard shielded the purse after them and went back to where Wallace still sat upright on the bed. He noticed, with a certain grimace of spirit, that one of the lieutenant's hands rested on the child's fair hair.

"Wallace?" he asked.

"It's dangerous."

"We can't exactly make his child the regimental pet, can we?"

Wallace was silent, and the Major sat down on the edge of the bed beside him.

"I had orders to watch for him," he said. "He was to have been hanged as soon as we captured Santiago. That's why he was making for the jungle. He was detected and allowed to escape with his life, but he had been working as a Spanish agent since he was drummed out of America. His career ended at the luckiest moment for him. He seems to have had the one redeeming quality of affection for the child, though if he had had a particle of selfishness in him he would have left her behind him. I suppose she was the only thing he had in his wretched life."

"Of course there's no pollution," suggested Wallace. "But the man may have been born good and—gone downhill."

"He was born rotten," answered the Major. "He sold his country to pay his gambling debts. Cuba was about the only place that would hold him. I imagine. And to think that swine was once in our regiment! Sorry I had to tell you, Wallace!"

He hesitated a while; Wallace had not moved; but the child at his side stirred and breathed heavily. The major's face clenched.

"I'm trying to be just to the dead," he said. "But I feel that a thousand years of hell wouldn't stone for that crime, Wallace."

Mark Wallace looked up. "I'm not sure that I know all the facts about the case, Major," he said.

"The facts are: that it was no sudden act of war or temptation, but calculated, cold-blooded deliberation. We knew at the war office that there was a leakage. It had been traced to the mobilization division, where Kellerman and I were working. Even we were under suspicion for a time. Then it narrowed down to Hampton and another."

"Wallace, these months were the worst time I've ever spent. Hampton was my best friend, and Kellerman's, too. We spled on him—had to."

"Well, you know what happened, more or less. There was a woman going between, as they generally is—a free-looking young woman, little more than a girl, named Hilda Morheim. One of those French-German Alsatians, Wallace. Kellerman got some hold on her, and she confessed. The case against Hampton was absolutely proven."

"There wasn't any trial. The fellow could have been shut up for a good many years; he had cost his country millions; he ought to have been hanged. But he was quietly cashiered and allowed to disappear. Maybe it was a foolish move, but we felt the shame pretty badly and wanted to forget it. Hampton was let go, on the understanding that he leave the country forever. Oh, yes, he assumed the innocent air quite dramatically. Some of the war office people believed in him until the damning documents were laid before them.

"And he was still somehow in touch with things, Wallace, and the packages went on afterward. That's why we had orders to hang him as soon as Santiago was taken. He did this kindest thing he could have done to himself when he got in the way of that sniper's bullet."

"I'll tell you who the child's mother was, Wallace, because I was unfortunate enough to know her. She was a Miss Beattie, Miss Marjorie Rennie, of a Baltimore family—fine people, and, of course, with a tradition like that, she believed in the scoundrel absolutely. She came to me twice. The first time was before the informal trial held by the department. She begged me to believe he was innocent and the victim of a trap. I wouldn't even listen. You know, when a man has to run down his friend he has to harden his heart."

"She came to me again, after Hampton was broken. She told me I had played false to my best friend and that I'd suffer for it to the last day of my life. I've never forgotten that interview, and you can guess how it made me mad to hang Hampton when we learned that he was still keeping up the game from his exile in Cuba. He must have got quite a number of confidential papers out of the war office. That's about all."

"It's enough," said Wallace. "The girl married him, then?"

"So much we learned. And also that she died later. You see, we've been pretty close on the fellow's track the last couple of years—ever since the war became a probability, in fact. Most of the officers in the regiment are since that time, but I guess they all knew something, and kept it quiet, like you."

Wallace nodded. "I fancy there's a good deal of feeling," he said.

"Quite a good deal," said the major. "And I guess you'll agree with me that this makes it—let's say, a little difficult to adopt his child officially."

"You mean the remembrance would be too bitter?"

"I mean that that position is the one and only position that she is disqualified from holding, by reason of birth."

"Still," urged Wallace, "it isn't in the blood. The mother was decent. Why should that baby be tarred with her father's treachery?"

"It's written in the Good Book—" began the major. "And there's something else about coats of fire, too, Major, which came as a sort of revision of the old law. It's just what we ought to do, because it's the only way to adjust the matter."

"Adjust it? Adjust what?" cried the Major, with sudden passion.

"The whole of that hellish business, Major. The man was once an officer of the Serenith. He's dead and his crimes have died with him. We want to forget that such a thing could have happened, and the only way is to leave him to God's judgment and to cast out all bitterness from our hearts. You quoted Scripture to me—well, I give you the answer from the same Book. Let death bring oblivion to the man's memory. He's left us the child. Start here. Start fresh. I have the right to the kid, but what you have told me makes me feel strongly that there's a Providence in this affair, and I'll lend her to you—mark that word, Major!—on that condition or none."

Major Howard pulled at his mustache in agitation. "You don't really mean it, Wallace?" he asked.

"I do. If you want me to let you take her till the war's over—"

"—I mean forgetting that black-guard!"

"It means forgetting him and letting the Judge judge."

"It goes against every instinct. I'd bring her up away from the regimental life. Besides, there are the others."

"Who else knows?"

"Well, of course, nobody else knows who the dead man was. The colonel will have to know. But he needn't know we've adopted the child. He's going South after the war. However, I'm afraid Kellerman knows. He recognized what was left of the face, or suspected somehow. I could tell from his manner."

"I don't see any overwhelming difficulty in that. You can trust Kellerman?"

The major nodded, and it occurred to Wallace that he would rather trust any of the officers than Kellerman. He had conceived a prejudice against him which he could not have explained.

The major, who had been puffing at his mustache and thinking deeply, came to his decision.

"Well, I'll take her on those terms, Wallace," he said. "The fellow was a bad lot, but, as you say, there may be no reason why this little animal should suffer for his sins. The mother was decent, and there may be something in that idea of a vicarious restitution. I'll agree, Wallace, if you'll let me take over the charge of her till the war's ended. We'll enter her on the mess book and settle a delicious parentage on her afterward, and may she never know her father's history. By the time she's old enough to understand a man's duties, fire with the lieutenant, and plead for the drunks, maybe we'll have forgotten it ourselves. Good-bye, my boy. Take care of your wound. I'll send in that milk and biscuit and a couple of cakes of naphthalin soap, and a porcelain tub with silver trimmings, for you to make a start on her in the morning."

"Everything Goes In War, 'Says Jackie' Even a Fellow's Hair"

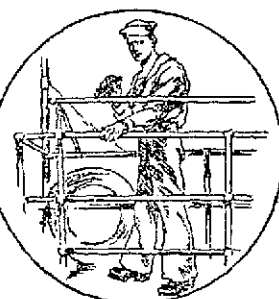

"O, very well. We're the bald-headed twins if you say so."

So say these two members of the U. S. Naval Band, Cleveland station, which is on tour in the Fourth Federal Reserve District to boost bond sales for the Fourth Loan. You can't get a "rise" out of either of these boys by reference to their unthatched domes. Witness the smiles.

"Everything goes in war," says the baldy with the big horn, "even a fellow's hair."

That one is Edmond Inski, who enlisted with his B flat tuba the minute the hand was talked of. His "twin" is A. F. Gerloch, who was financial secretary of the musicians' union in Cleveland before enlisting. Inski is 21—Gerloch is 20.

OUR boys who have gone to the navy are constantly on the alert for the submarines which menace their army comrades on the long trips across the Atlantic.

One $100 Liberty Bond and one $50 Liberty Bond will equip an enlisted man in the navy for one year. Or the same two bonds will feed him for a year.

Cards From Boys Will Urge Buying of Bonds

Ten million sets of post cards—five in a set—have been sent to Europe by the War Loan Organization at Washington to be distributed among the boys of the American Expeditionary Forces.

By this time they probably have been put in the hands of the boys over there and some are probably on their way back to this country.

Each card bears a message from the boy to the home folks urging the home folks to invest in Liberty Bonds.

The cards bear photographs of tanks, guns, ammunition, etc.—things which the boys need and which the home folks' money will buy. The cards will be coming back soon in large numbers. Ohio and Kentucky and West Virginia and Pennsylvania will be receiving their share of them.

BANKER, WAITER, COOK IN WAR'S MELTING POT.

Speaking of melting pots that have nothing to do with the weather, a banker, a cook and a waiter recently sat on one bench in the St. Paul (Minn.) House of the War Camp Community Service. Before they donned uniforms they had all been at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York simultaneously—the banker at the table signing the check, the waiter back of his chair and the cook concealing the food.

Italians, Bohemians, Jews, Syrians, Greeks and many other nationalities meet and mingle at this clubhouse. Often when their friends and families join them the different groups chatter away in their native tongues, making a modern babel that is mighty interesting to the chance caller. Yet they are all Americans in spirit as in uniform, and bringing them together is exactly what the Commissions on Training Camp Activities asked War Camp Community Service to do.

AN "ALL-HANDS" CANTEN.

New Brunswick N. J.'s first Soldiers' and Sailors' canteen opened on Saturday, August 10, at 4 p. m., according to an announcement made by the War Camp Community Service. It will continue to be open daily and sell many delightful foods and hot and cold drinks to men in uniform. This canteen might be called an "All-Hands" canteen, as it has been contributed by bits from various individuals and firms, one firm contributing a barrel of glasses, another a complete set of dishes, a church lending the silver, etc., until even the matter of food is disposed of in much the same way. Certain people volunteer to supply all the sandwiches every Tuesday, and the good work goes on. With such a co-operative spirit New Brunswick is sure to have a highly successful canteen.

Ash Trees for Airplanes.

The appeal of the Aerial League of the British empire for ash trees for aeronautical purposes has resulted in between three and four thousand trees being offered within the last few weeks, according to "Flight." The government requirements in the next twelve months are expected to exceed 300,000 trees—Scientific American.

Brother, Buy Another!

Brother, buy another bond! It will help to pave the way for the boys who've gone beyond the Atlantic to the fray. Do not falter. Do not say you have done enough, my brother. Buy another bond today—And another—AND ANOTHER!

What a blessed chance is yours Thus to do your humble part for the Freedom that endures Deep in every Yankee's heart! Give this Loan a rousing start With your glad subscription, brother. Every dollar is a Dart! Buy a bond—AND BUY ANOTHER! —William F. Kirk.

Catholic Sisters Soon to Sail as American Red Cross Nurses to Italy

A Part of Loyola Unit of One Hundred Sisters

Will Direct Work of Unit Caring for Italian Sick and Wounded.

Carrying a gospel of mercy and good cheer, ten sisters of the Order of St. Vincent and St. Paul, better known as Sisters of Charity, will sail soon for Italy, where, as Red Cross nurses, they will pursue the mission for which the order was founded, that of comforting and caring for the sick and the wounded.

The sisters, who are from Base Hospital 102, Birmingham, Ala., are a part of a unit to be known as the Loyola unit, which is financed by Mrs. John D. Hertz of New Orleans. They came to New York with ninety other nurses belonging to the unit.

It was at the suggestion of Dr. J. A. Danna of New Orleans, who is to be in charge of the unit, that Mrs. Dillert donated $100,000 to the Red Cross to be used in financing the entire expedition. Sister Chrysostom is to be the chief nurse of the unit.

All Registered Nurses.

When the unit arrives in Italy it will be divided into groups of ten, each group to be in charge of one of the sisters as a chief nurse.

Speaking for the sisters, Sister Chrysostom said:

"We are all registered nurses and are anxious to go across and get to work."

When asked if they were volunteers she replied:

"All Sisters of Charity are anxious to go, so it was necessary to select us. We will have charge of the operating rooms and hope to do our full duty in bringing the American boys back to health and happiness."

War nursing is not new to Sister Chrysostom, as she was a Red Cross nurse during the Spanish War, having served at the Naval Hospital, Portsmouth, Va., and at the Army Hospital, Fort Thomas, Ky. What was a new experience for these hardworkers of good was having their pictures taken. They consented only because they felt that it was a patriotic sacrifice and that they might serve as an example for others to follow.

"It will be the happiest moment of our lives when we are ministering to the wounded and sick in Italy," said Sister Chrysostom. "The sisterhood feels keenly the desire to be of the utmost service in caring for the soldiers of Italy or any of the other Allies of America."

"War makes its demand upon the woman power of America as well as upon her man power, and all who can do so, no matter what the sacrifice, should serve the interest of America's part in the war."

"There is no more important task before the country at this time than the building up of a nursing service large enough to care for the sick and wounded American and Allied fighting men, and it is the duty of all trained nurses to enlist for this service through the American Red Cross."
